

The 11th hole: This hole is all about the tee shot. Any shot down the right side will require the player to either hit over the trees to reach the green or to punch a shot through the trees. The ideal tee shot is just right of the fairway bunker guarding the left side of the fairway. Long hitters should avoid hitting drivers which will go through the fairway and into the trees left. A slightly elevating green makes it difficult to determine the depth of the pin when coming in over the two bunkers guarding the front of the green. An approach shot landing on the right side of the green may bounce hard right off the green.

A very tough hole. Must stay left to have an open shot to green.

Mike Roberts

My slice from the tee box gets me in big trouble due to the trees on the right. Stay away from them at all costs!

Frank Snyder

I consistently slice or push to the right and end up behind the tree line. In 6 years I have only gotten cleanly thru the trees once but was on the green and that has ruined me. 😊

Scott Weaver

Very strong hole. My target off the tee is the Palm tree 240 yds away. You have to be aware of the prevailing wind to avoid drifting in the trees and bushes on right. Dont miss the green short, right, long or left 😊. In other word your approach better be precise or your short game better be

Dan Penninga

It starts out all friendly with the cute water shed. And ya think I'll just hit a little cut around the trees. Well if ya don't get way past the corner the trees on the right will block your approach. The raised green is hard to hold and the bunkers covering the left front require an accurate

Scott Groh

Try to get you tee shot down the left side. Don't miss the gree long or left. Well designed hole

Dan Huffman

Green is one of the hardest to hit even if you hit a good drive. Left protected by bunkers and green slopes more severely to right than it looks. Very difficult hole.

Sheri Reynolds Rigdon

Dan Huffman visited that left bunker many times 😊 hard hole

Richard Bruce

You would have to hit a really long fade to get any chance of a clean second shot. If you can hit left center of the green with back spin you might have a chance at birdie. Greens are hard though

Dan Huffman coming down next week and find out 😊

Dan Huffman

Richard Bruce they are much better at holding now. My problem is I don't hit enough to find
